

The next nuclear control valve package you receive might surprise you.

What? You don't like surprises?

We didn't think so. That's why we design and build Fisher® control valves to perform to your specifications. Just like you want them to, without surprises. With over 40 years in the nuclear industry and installed units in over 90% of the world's nuclear facilities, you can rest assured that Fisher valves will give you the reliable performance you require. Day after day, for the life of your plant—no surprises.
