

Making a World of Difference

At Emerson Process Management you don't just make a living; you make a difference.

We already make a difference in your life, in ways you've probably never realized: The sweetener in your coffee. The gasoline in your car. The electricity that lights your home. Even the paper for your favorite book or newspaper. Everyday materials that are purer, safer, stronger, and more affordable because we help our customers produce them more efficiently and more profitably.
