After learning that company data was accessed through the MOVEit application, we took immediate and comprehensive measures to address the vulnerability and assess impact. Our current findings indicate the only customer and employee data impacted was generic customer and/or contact information that is typically public. The only system accessed was that hosting the MOVEit application. Emerson's products, IT applications and infrastructure were not accessed or affected in this incident. We continue to take actions to further enhance the security of file sharing tools.
